WINSOME BENJAMIN

Born in Clarendon, Jamaica, Winsome Benjamin started singing in the church at the early age of four. The church gave her the preparation she needed. Expressing herself through music and singing, she made the church her stage and the stage is where she is happiest.

In 1994 she migrated to Germany where she began singing professionally. She toured extensively throughout Germany, Sweden, Netherlands, Austria and Switzerland. In 1997 she produced and released her first gospel album entitled "Live for Jesus". In 2000, Desi Jones, former drummer of "Chalice", produced her hit single "My Sweet Lord", a remake of George Harrison's (The Beatles) classic song. Later that year she performed on the "Gospel Train" tour, produced by Tommy Cowan and Carlene Davis of Glory Music. In 2002, she released "Bring the Family Back" and "Give It Up For Jesus".

Winsome has shared stage with: Carlene Davis, Ken Boothe, The Grace Thrillers, Ernie Smith, Junior Tucker, Papa San, John Holt, Lt. Stiche, Pam Hall, Peter Lloyd, Joan Myers, Prodigal Son, Leroy Sibbles, Dwight Richards, Miriam Drakes, Dwight Pinkney, Hopeton Lewis, Mickey Spice, Boris Gardener, George Banton, Dean Frazer, Tommy Cowan, among others. Winsome Benjamin is a songwriter and arranger who speaks fluent German. Her musical repertoire includes Gospel, inspirational, love & soul music. She is very dedicated to her career and is presently working on her new album.
